

Arts and Crafts Club

Arts and Crafts Club activities are conducted in Independence Center. Our club has many different groups, and you are sure to find something of interest.

Club membership is open to all residents. Please refer to the following chart with contact information for the various Arts and Crafts group activities.

February open house. This event was a tremendous success. Twelve new members signed up, and more planned to attend group workshops and sign up at a later date.

Every club subgroup had a table display in the Morris/Nelson Room, while demonstrations and additional exhibitions were held in the Arts and Crafts Room. Many attendees were new SCA residents who seemed excited about the wide range of club activities and offerings. One-on-one instruction was available, and some created a keepsake while participating in the open house.

Thanks to the many club members who helped organize this event, from before set up to after clean up, as it was truly an all-hands-on-deck occasion. Everything that the Arts and Crafts Club has to offer was on display, and it was clear that the artists and creative types who displayed their wares took great pride in their handiwork.

Please feel free to stop by the Arts and Crafts Club Room located in Independence Center during workshops to learn more about what we do. Signs are posted in the window with group leaders' names and contact information, and days and times of workshops.

Visit the Arts and Crafts Club's display cases in the Anthem Fitness Center and Independence Center. Throughout the year, examples of our club's many groups' work are displayed in these cabinets, which are put together by Sandi Athey, second vice president on our board. The display cases are changed out every few months.

Some items on display are also for sale; call Sandi Athey or ask at the Independence Center front desk. Sandi may be reached at sandiandjohn@yahoo.com or 702-568-7178.

For more information, contact club president Marcea Reid at 702-263-7003 or marceareid@cox.net, or club secretary Franki Roizman at paulafranki22@gmail.com.
